Men’s Health Week (MHW)
12th – 18th June 2017

International Men’s Health Week (MHW) takes place from Monday 12th until Sunday 18th June, ending on Father’s Day. This year’s overall key message for Ireland is that “It’s all about HIM” (Healthy Ireland Men), which links in with the Healthy Ireland Men’s Action Plan, launched at end of 2016. As with other years, the week will have a different theme highlighted each day. The individual daily themes for the week will be announced shortly.

The aims of Men’s Health Week are to:

- Heighten awareness of preventable health problems for males of all ages
- Support men and boys to engage in healthier lifestyle choices/activities
- Encourage the early detection and treatment of health difficulties in males

MHW presents an opportunity for everyone to engage/reach out (health professionals, service providers, sporting bodies, community groups, employers, policy makers, churches, pharmacies, the media, individuals ...) and work together to improve the health and wellbeing of men and boys.

The following link http://bit.ly/2qzJeL6 provides the most up to date information including key online resources available (and how to order them) such as the poster, postcards and the ‘Challenges and Choices’ Man Manuals. Please get involved and place your orders for any resources you may require today http://bit.ly/2qwzfYR by following the ordering instructions under each of the materials listed. Keep scrolling down the page to see all materials available.

Dublin Simon Community Sure Steps Counselling Service is delighted to announce it will be delivering the following training

Wellness Recovery Action Plan (WRAP) Level 2 Facilitator Training

Presenter: Copeland accredited advanced facilitators
Duration: Five day training
Location: Dublin
Thur Fri Sat 13th -15th July & Mon Tue 17th 18th July 2017
9.30-5.00pm,
Cost: €500
(Participants themselves purchase Level 2 manual from Copeland foundation)

This course is 5 intensive days of workshops that prepares participants to facilitate WRAP® classes and equips them with the skills to facilitate classes in their community and organisation. It is for people who have completed a seminar I WRAP course. The WRAP® Facilitator training provides an experiential learning environment based on mutuality and self-determination. Participants in this course will be expected to participate in interactive learning activities and demonstrate their own experience with WRAP.

This training is appropriate for anyone who would like to lead WRAP® groups, work with others to develop their own WRAP and give presentations on mental health recovery related issues to groups or organisations. Participants are expected to have a solid working knowledge of WRAP and share their experiential knowledge of how WRAP can work.

Before attending the training, it is expected that you have familiarity with the different parts of WRAP through completion of one of the following prerequisites (which must be conducted by a WRAP Facilitator):

- 2 or 3 day Seminar I course or workshop
- 8 or 12 week Seminar I group or workshop

"The Irish Association of Social Workers and partners have been successful in securing Ireland as the next venue for the joint global Social Work, Education and Social Development conference from 4-7 July 2018. The International Federation of Social Workers, the International Schools of Social Work and the International Council on Social Welfare signed the contract for this conference last week during the 2016 joint global conference held in Seoul, South Korea.

The local organising committee here comprises members of the IASW, the Schools of Social work in UCD, TCD, UCC and NUIG and the European Anti-Poverty Network Dublin office.

The conference theme is: Environmental and Community Sustainability: Human Solutions in Evolving Societies.

This exciting, unique and important event will bring together upwards of 2500 social work practitioners, educators and policy workers from across the world. It is our intention to also invite user groups and community groups to participate in the conference programme. In shaping the structure of the conference programme, the local organising committee will focus on the United Nation's Sustainable Development Goals 2015-2030. Ban Ki Moon, Secretary-General of the United Nations, in his address to the 2016 Global Conference in Seoul last week, spoke about the importance of these goals in helping to ensure ‘that no one is left behind’. For me, the core of social work is about helping to ensure that those who are vulnerable are supported in their journey so that they are not left behind.

Topics will include poverty and quality of life, social justice, rights and equality, community development, climate change and sustainable environments. We plan to have a programme where all those attending the conference can engage in meaningful dialogue about practice, education and policy relating to these issues and can leave a rich legacy.

Ongoing updates will also be provided through social media www.facebook.com/SWSDofficial and https://twitter.com/SWSDOfficial"
Alcohol and drug use

National Programme for Screening and Brief Interventions (SBI) for Problem Alcohol & Drug Use

The HSE National Social Inclusion Office has launched the second edition of SAOR which provides a framework for the delivery of screening and brief interventions (SBI) for problem alcohol and substance use. SAOR, the Irish word for “free” is used as an acronym to highlight the four principle aspects of the intervention are (i) Support, (ii) Ask and assess, (iii) Offer assistance and (iv) Refer. The first edition of SAOR provided a structured model across the HSE and externally since 2009 to help address the complexity of alcohol and other substance presentations.

Since 2012, the SBI project has coordinated the national roll out of a one-day SAOR SBI training programme for alcohol and substance use in partnership with the National Addiction Training Programme (NATP). To date, approximately 3,500 service providers across all tiers have been trained and a SAOR train the trainer programme has provided over 100 trainers nationally since 2013. The roll-out of the SAOR train the trainer programmes and training is supported by partners from local drug and alcohol services, drug and alcohol task forces, the community and voluntary sector and, in some areas by health promotion and improvement staff, centres of nursing and midwifery education and other statutory health services.

SAOR II builds on the original framework; it builds on the learning and understanding from delivering interventions and training workers in a diverse range of settings including: acute care settings, mental health services, child and family, community based drugs services, homeless agencies, primary care services, third level colleges, criminal justice, youth and sporting organisations. Working and training with a variety of health and social care workers with differing skills and competency levels has enabled us to refine the model to ensure its applicability in a range of not only health and social care but also social and recreational settings. The publication draws from and adds to the significant evidence and policy base that exists for screening and brief intervention.

SAOR II offers a step-by-step guide for practice, to guide workers in using a person-centred approach throughout their conversation, encounter or engagement with a service user. SAOR II supports workers from their first point of contact with a service user to enable them to deliver brief interventions and to facilitate those presenting with more complex needs with entry into treatment programmes as per the NDRF National Protocols and Common Assessment Guidelines (2011).

The publication is now available here along with a range of publications and resources. If you have any queries on the publication or on SAOR training please contact Nicola Corrigan, National Social Inclusion Office, nicola.corrigan@hse.ie
Cannabis Awareness Workshop

A workshop to enhance knowledge about cannabis, cannabis use and misuse and to explore the skills needed to work with cannabis users.

Date: Thursday July 13th 2017 from 10am to 5pm
Venue: Oranmore Lodge Hotel, Oranmore, Galway
Cost: €95 – (€80 for ACI members) (lunch provided)

The aim of this training is to assist those who work with cannabis users to feel more confident and competent in supporting them to make changes.

Training will seek to:

- Enhance participants knowledge of cannabis including types of and ways of using
- Enhance participants understanding of why individuals use and misuse cannabis
- Explore the effects associated with using cannabis
- Identify what is dependency
- Examine the impact of cannabis on mental health
- Provide information on the law with respect to cannabis
- Provide information on the prevalence of cannabis use in Ireland
- Explore ways to help those whose cannabis use is causing problems

The workshop will involve a mix of presentation and group work and is intended to be as participative as possible. The training is appropriate for those working in the areas of addiction and therapy who wish to increase their knowledge of this substance and explore how to effectively work with cannabis users.

It is relevant also for those who may opportunistically intervene with individuals who use cannabis such as youth workers, probation officers, those working in supported accommodation.

Certificates for CPD purposes will be provided to participants at the workshop. It is approved for 6 hours CPD by ACI (Addiction Counsellors of Ireland).

Ring 086 3322540 or email mcampbell66@hotmail.com for further information on this workshop. Your place will be held and confirmed on receipt of the deposit of €45, which is non refundable.

Return form with payment to Mark Campbell, Killeeneenmore, Craughwell, Co Galway. Please make cheque payable to Mark Campbell. Payment via Paypal is also possible – email or phone and I will send a link to make payment.

Closing date for booking & receipt of payment Thursday 6th July (booking form below). Places limited to 16.

National Programme for Screening and Brief Interventions (SBI) for Problem Alcohol & Drug Use

One Day Course

Aim
This course aims to prepare nurses, midwives, health and social care professionals to implement Screening and Brief Interventions (SBI) for problem substance misuse.

Learning Outcomes
On completion of this course, participants should be able to:

• Critically discuss problem alcohol and drug use as it impacts on their current work or area of practice
• Demonstrate an enhanced knowledge and awareness of contemporary models of screening and brief intervention for problem alcohol and drug use
• Identify problem alcohol and drug users who present to health and social care settings
• Utilise the SAOR model of Screening & Brief Intervention (SBI) in practice based scenarios
• Discuss the application of the SAOR model of screening and brief intervention for problem alcohol and drug use into their practice

Course Content
The key course content which emerges from the course learning outcomes is outlined below:

• Evidence for the effectiveness of SBI.
• Alcohol and drug related presentations to health and social care settings.
• Contemporary models of SBI for problem alcohol and drug use.
• Overview of the SAOR model of intervention for problem alcohol and drug use.
• Establishing a supportive working relationship with the service users.
• Asking about alcohol and drug use and screening for alcohol and drug related problems.
• Delivering a structured brief intervention based upon the SAOR model.
• Developing appropriate care pathways for service users and arranging appropriate follow up.
• Accessing useful links and reference materials for further reading and research.

Target Groups
The primary target audience is nurses, midwives and allied health and social care professionals who are in a position to offer Screening and Brief Interventions to service users presenting with problem alcohol and drug use.

Training will take place in the last quarter of 2017

Postgraduate Diploma in Advanced Fieldwork Practice and Supervision (Social Work)

Applications are open for the following until June 26th 2017

This course is designed to equip social work practitioners engaged in practice teaching and supervision to develop the knowledge, values and skills necessary to competently execute the demands of the role. It is offered to individuals who wish to study part-time.

Course participants will be required to incorporate their working experience into the learning process by agreeing to take a social work student on placement during their attendance on the course. The reflective design, delivery and assessment of the course will ensure that participants can simultaneously develop their competencies academically and experientially.

The course duration is one academic year from September to the end of May.

Invitation to Practice Teachers in Social Work

Have you thought about practice teaching/having a student on placement? Have you been a practice teacher before and not done it for a while? If any of these questions apply to you and you want to discuss at further, please contact the Fieldwork Co-ordinator at the School of Applied Social Studies, UCC. Ruth Murray would be very interested in discussing what is entailed with you. The main times placements are required by UCC are for 14 weeks from January –April and September-December. Very occasionally they are required over the summer period also.

One of the innovations Ruth and some colleagues have been involved in is visiting social work teams and running training sessions with social workers there interested in practice teaching. Ruth would be happy to factor this in for a team if social workers express an interest in this. She is also willing to visit social work teams, at their request. One of the times that have proven most suitable for social workers is at the end of their own team meetings, and with notice, Ruth is willing to travel and meet with people at these times.

Ruth can be contacted at (021) 4903954 or by email at r.murray@ucc.ie

Past participants have referred to the benefits of the course in terms of their ongoing professional development and many have gone on to further study whilst others have been promoted within their agencies to team leader, senior practitioner and other senior posts.

Training for Social Workers/Potential Practice Teachers
7th and 8th September 2017 in UCC

Ruth Murray, Fieldwork Coordinator in the School of Applied Social Studies, is organising the annual two days Fieldwork Workshop Training in UCC on Thursday and Friday 7th and 8th September. It is will include presentations by a number of staff within the School of Applied Social Studies, outside practitioners and former students. It is aimed at social workers who may be considering supervising students in the future or social workers who have not taken students for a while and wish to have their supervision skills refreshed. The two days are free. It is hoped the topics being covered will be:

- Promoting Reflective Engagement by Student Social Workers –The Practice Teacher’s Role
- Understanding Competency and Diversity in Practice Teaching when Responding to Varying Student Needs and the Transition from Classroom Learning to Placement
- Keeping CORU Proficiencies to the fore while supervising students
- Background to MSW and BSW Social Work Programmes and Expectations of Critical Learning Incidents as written by students and feedback on them by Practice Teachers
- Writing Reports on Students, mid-way and final placement reports
- Social Media Use and Implications for Practice Placements and Portfolios

There is an expectation that those attending will be available to take a student in January or September 2018. In previous years, this has been an accredited IASW event. We intend to apply for accreditation for this year’s event also.

If interested phone Ruth at 021 4903954 for a brochure and/or application form or email her at r.murray@ucc.ie

If Ruth is unavailable, please phone Jackie Connolly (mornings only, Monday to Thursday) at 021 4903546 or email Jackie at: j.connolly@ucc.ie

Places will be limited to 30 so early booking is advised as this training has been booked out early in previous years.

6th National Child Protection and Welfare Social Work Conference
University College Cork, 27th October 2017

Child protection and welfare in Ireland is heading into a series of significant changes in the next 12-36 months: the introduction of mandatory reporting, the implementation of the NCCIS software system, the adoption of a new national approach to practice in child protection and welfare in Tusla, the mainstreaming of prevention and family support (PPFS), more separated children fleeing from conflict, a new edition of Children First, a proposed review of the Child Care Act 1991, and it is anticipated that there will be new legislation in the areas of adoption, domestic abuse and online safety. Are all of these changes bringing child protection and welfare in the right direction and why? Will there be opportunities for more relationship and social action-based social work as a result of these changes? What good practice innovations are taking place? What ideas and opinions do you have on these changes and the future direction of child protection and welfare?

Rediscovering Empathy; Values, Relationships and Practice in a Changing World

Across the globe, the perceived decline in empathy, care and social solidarity is a cause for concern. Empathy is the ability and/or inclination to understand and experience another’s state or condition and, where appropriate, to respond through supportive actions. Research has shown that empathy in individuals is essential to healthy social and emotional functioning and contributes to the enrichment of civic society. Conversely, where levels of empathy are compromised, studies have found an increased propensity to engage in anti-social behaviour, such as bullying, aggression and offending behaviour. For practitioners, empathy in direct relationship-based working is increasingly recognised as a cornerstone of good practice in work with children, young people and their families, while for society, there is an urgent need for empathy informed policy and action to address structural inequalities and disparities. The biennial UCFRC conference draws on national and international expertise to explore the concepts of empathy and relationship based working as they relate to policy and practice with children, youth and families. Reducing Youth Crime in Ireland: An Evaluation of Le Chéile Mentoring

Volunteer mentoring programme sees 28% drop in reoffending amongst teenagers

‘Reducing Youth Crime in Ireland’ report shows a four-times plus return on investment into Le Chéile programme

Young people who have fallen into crime reduce reoffending by 28% on average over the period of mentoring, a major report into Le Chéile’s State and EU funded programme has revealed.

The ‘Reducing Youth Crime in Ireland’ report is based on a detailed evaluation of the Le Chéile volunteer mentoring programme and its activities over the period 2013-2015. The report has also shown also that for every euro spent on the programme, €4.35 is returned in social and economic benefits. This includes benefits such as avoiding detention, better health and engagement in education.

According to the report, of the 28% reduction in reoffending during the period of being mentored, 49% can be directly attributed to mentoring. It found that mentoring has significant positive impacts for young people over a range of areas, with the biggest gains made in self-confidence, hopefulness, communications, engagement in activities and, crucially, offending behaviour.

The mentoring programme is a one-to-one relationship-based support service in which volunteers from local communities provide a positive role model to a young person by acting as an advisor and friendly support. In 2015 Le Chéile mentored 152 young people aged 12 to 21 as well as 49 parent mentees, with volunteers giving 3,678 hours of their personal time to the young people and their parents.

One of the key recommendations in the report was that, given the high social return from mentoring, Le Chéile should continue to be resourced and expanded to regions in Ireland where there is unmet or latent demand.

For young person mentees, key benefits also include:

- Reductions in offending behaviour (average 28%, with attribution of nearly half to mentoring);
- Reductions in alcohol (12%) and drug use (16%);
- Improved self-confidence (25%), hopefulness (25%), and happiness (23%);
- Greater involvement in activities outside the home (28%);
- Greater involvement or reengagement in education, work and training (25%);
- Improved communication skills (24%);
- Moving away from negative peers (9% improvement in relationship with peers), and
- Improved relationships with parents (11%), other family (8%), & persons in authority (23%).

Le Chéile is funded by the Irish Youth Justice Service through the Probation Service, as part of Ireland’s European Structural and Investment Funds Programme 2014-2020, which is co-funded by the Irish Government and the European Union. For more information, please contact: Mary Davis, Le Chéile, 086-0488349 or

About Le Chéile: Le Chéile is a community based volunteer mentoring and family support service, which works with young people involved with or at risk of offending. Le Chéile’s services and programmes include Youth Mentoring, Parent Mentoring, Parenting Programmes, Strengthening Families programme, Family Support Initiatives and Restorative Justice services.

Le Chéile’s mentoring projects trains and supports local volunteers as mentors to young people or parents in their community in 8 projects around Ireland, and a Restorative Justice Project in Limerick provides a range of restorative justice programmes to young people who have been involved in crime. www.lecheile.ie Reducing Youth Crime In Ireland-Executive Summary.pdf
Practice signposts are permanent pages that will appear in every edition of Practice Links. The aim of these pages is to provide signposts to high quality, research-informed databases. Some of the databases at a quick glance may seem too medical/health orientated, but also contain great resources to support social work and social care practice also.

DecisionMap, currently in beta test release, combines digital mapping from Ordnance Survey Ireland, with visualisation and web delivery tools developed by Twelve Horses, and statistical data provided by the Central Statistics Office and others. It aims to provide decision makers in the public and private sectors instant access to easily-consumable, spatially-referenced data about Ireland. http://decisionmap.ie/

Growing Up in Ireland
Growing Up in Ireland is a national study of children. It is the most significant of its kind ever to take place in this country and will help us to improve our understanding of all aspects of children and their development.

The study will take place over seven years and follow the progress of two groups of children; 8500 nine-year-olds and 11,000 nine-month-olds. During this time we will carry out two rounds of research with each group of children.

The main aim of the study is to paint a full picture of children in Ireland and how they are developing in the current social, economic and cultural environment. This information will be used to assist in policy formation and in the provision of services which will ensure all children will have the best possible start in life. RIAN – Irish Open Access Research Archive (free)
RIAN is the outcome of a sectoral higher education project supported by the Irish Government’s Strategic Innovation Fund. Project planning was carried out by the seven Irish university libraries, DCU, NUIG, NUIM, TCD, UCC, UCD, UL and was supported by the Irish Universities Association (IUA). The project aim is to harvest to one portal the contents of the Institutional Repositories of the seven university libraries, in order to make Irish research material more freely accessible, and to increase the research profiles of individual researchers and their institutions. It is intended to extend the harvest to other Irish research institutions as RIAN develops.

Resource on Marijuana

Marijuana LIT is a source of fact based information to assist professionals in providing accurate information to those affected by the use of cannabis. There are lots of confusing messages regarding the use of cannabis, the harm it causes and whether it should be legalised or not. This makes it difficult sometimes to determine facts from urban myth or popular opinion. The Addiction Technology Transfer Centre Network Co-ordinating Office in the United States has a user friendly package of resources to assist those who provide services to substance users. It has information and infographics on how cannabis affects the body, using cannabis while pregnant and the potential complications for unborn children and newborns and how cannabis impacts on young people and families. Dr. Thomas E. Freese explains in-depth what is meant by “Medical Marijuana Use”. Who uses it and why, and the difference between medical marijuana and Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) medications. He also discusses the legal issues around the debate on the legal use of marijuana.

The DCYA Children’s Participation Hub Database

The DCYA Children's Participation Hub Database is now online. Please click on this link: http://www.dcyagov.ie/Participation-Database/default.asp. The database includes a wide range of national and international practice and research publications and articles on children and young people's participation in decision-making. This database is the first stage of development of the Children and Young People’s Participation Hub, which is one of the key actions for DCYA under the National Strategy on Children and Young People's Participation in Decision-making (2015-2020).

The Hub will become the national centre for excellence on children and young people’s participation in decision-making and will be fully functioning by the end of 2016. The Hub will support implementation of the strategy through the provision of information, training and advice for Government departments and agencies and the non-statutory sector. The database was developed on behalf of the DCYA by the Child Law Clinic, University College Cork.

The HRB National Drugs Library is an information resource that supports those working to develop the knowledge base around drug, alcohol and tobacco use in Ireland. The library is funded by the Department of Health, and based within the Health Research Board. We have a range of services and resources designed to provide the evidence needed for practice and CPD. In particular, see the social worker page on our online practitioner resource.

http://www.drugsandalcohol.ie/

You can view Irish and international research and policy material on legal and illegal drugs, alcohol and tobacco. Because these issues affect so many aspects of daily life, we also have publications on related subjects such as poverty, suicide, prisons, homelessness, social care, and health.

Every year we add hundreds of new articles and reports to our library collection. In order to help relieve information overload we have a number of summarised aids, such as Drugnet Ireland, NDC newsletter, and factsheets.

We recognise that those working in health and social care need access to research in a way that suits your busy work life. In order to facilitate this, the NDC librarians, with the wonderful help of advisors working in the social work and social care work areas, have developed a ‘practitioner’ resource. The homepage http://www.drugsandalcohol.ie/practitioners has links to a number of subject areas. The ‘key Irish data’ link and those on the bottom row are relevant to most workers. Clicking on a link will show you recent Irish and international articles and reports on that subject.

We have also developed pages for specific professions including social workers and social care workers. Each of these pages list key documents and have links to subjects of particular interest to that profession.

The resource includes a page called ‘doing research’ which has links to useful online tools providing help on finding and using information for research. We are interested in collecting and making available local Irish drug or alcohol research done by those working in the area. If you are doing any such research, even a small piece in their organisation, you can submit it to us.

We would like to express a special word of thanks to all of those who helped with the design of the resource. We welcome ongoing feedback with recommendations for key documents, subject areas and anything else workers would like to see in your resource.
Before you make contact ...

1. Is your proposed project small enough to be undertaken as part of a student project?
2. Does your group come under the definition of a not-for-profit community and voluntary group?
3. Do you have a clear idea for a research project that, if undertaken, will have a wider benefit to society?
4. Read some completed research reports on our website.
5. Groups that have funding should consider commissioning research, rather than applying to CARL.
6. Contact Anna to discuss your idea further and to receive a copy of the application form.
7. We are accepting proposals all year round.

Where can I get more information and read sample reports?

Please visit our website to watch brief videos about CARL, to find out what it is like to participate http://www.ucc.ie/en/scishop/, or to read past research project reports http://www.ucc.ie/en/scishop/rr/.

How does it work?

As part of their academic course, students undertake a minor dissertation (between 10,000-30,000 words). In past years, students designed their own study and then contacted groups for permission to collect data. These projects serve to develop the research skills of the students; however, the research may not always answer the needs of community and voluntary groups.

In the CARL model, the students undertake their studies, learn about research methods, data collection, ethics, literature reviews as usual; however, the major difference is that the research projects undertaken are explicitly studies of issues identified by the community. These are studies/research which the community identifies as important and need to be undertaken, but they cannot pay for it and/or do not have the expertise themselves to undertake the study at this time.

How long does this take?

The typical time-scale for projects would be a) proposals submitted by groups, b) review of proposals by the CARL advisory group (comprised of UCC staff, students and representatives from the community and voluntary sector) to see which proposals are sufficiently developed and feasible for a student to undertake, and c) students begin their research in May or October.

Projects must be small enough to be completed within the academic year, roughly 9-12 months. Large research projects which require longer than a year to complete may be broken up into one or more smaller one-year projects for multiple students.

Does it matter what the research topic is about?

Topics that are connected to any discipline at UCC are welcome (science, maths, engineering, social sciences, arts, humanities, business, law, etc.)

What if we have already completed a research project with CARL?

Community groups that are currently involved, or previously completed a project, are welcome to apply again.

We look forward to hearing from you!

How early years trauma affects the brain: the child who mistrusts good care

Dan Hughes, Clinical Psychologist, from U.S.A., is the originator of Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapy (DDP) and also attachment-focused family therapy. He has integrated recent research in the areas of neurobiology of trauma, early child development and attachment theory, to produce a therapeutic approach that assists professionals and parents/caregivers to understand and effectively support the healing of vulnerable children and young people. He recorded this summary of how the brain reacts to trauma and how an understanding of this process is helpful to foster and adoptive parents as well as professionals, such as residential care workers and teachers.

ReMoved

ReMoved is a powerful short film by Nathanael and Christina Matanick, which follows the emotional journey of Zoe, a 9-year-old girl who is taken from her abusive birth home and placed in the tumultuous foster care system. Separated from her brother, Zoe is moved from foster home to foster home, experiencing additional trauma within the system. She finally lands in a good foster home but experiences flashbacks and behavioural issues stemming from triggers in her environment. The perspective of the child is propelled by Zoe’s voice-over, articulating the thoughts and emotions of her experience. ReMoved won Best Film and Audience Choice at the 168 Film Festival and Best Film at the Enfoque Film Festival. Part 2, 'Remember My Story' continues Zoe’s story to its conclusion. Both films were made in the hope they would raise awareness and be used in foster parent training.

Integrated Pathways of Dementia Care in Action

As part of the HSE & Genio Dementia Programme, three hospital projects (St. James’s Hospital, Mercy University Hospital and Connolly Hospital) are developing integrated care pathways for people living with dementia to support planned and appropriate access to acute services; to improve their experience while in hospital; and to support their discharge back to the community. Over 120 delegates partook in the HSE & Genio Dementia Briefing 2016 'Integrated Pathways of Dementia Care in Action - Early learning from three acute hospitals in Ireland' on Wednesday 14th December in Dublin.
