Final Thesis Access Conditions

Queries about access levels should be sent to cora@ucc.ie

As per UCC Exam regulations, ALL research postgraduate students are required to submit a final thesis (post examination) to the UCC institutional repository, CORA. The final thesis will be stored in CORA under the terms outlined in the Thesis Deposit Licence which authors agree to on submission of their final thesis.

"UCC's fundamental position is that research should be used to the benefit of society and should be published openly and widely, in order to make research findings freely available to the public". Thesis authors are encouraged to enable open access to their thesis when they are free to do so and according to the UCC IP policy.

CORA facilitates different levels of access and further information on these can be found here. It is imperative that students discuss and agree access conditions for their final thesis with their supervisory team and indicate the level of access agreed in the following section.

Students, in consultation with their Supervisory team, must choose one of the following options:

1. Open Access: The final thesis can be viewed and downloaded by anyone from CORA, once any embargo that has been set has expired. The use of the thesis will be set by the application of a Creative Commons Licence selected by the author.

Or

2. Controlled Access: The final thesis may not be viewed or downloaded openly on CORA. An individual who requests access to the thesis for research or private study will be granted permission once any embargo that has been set has expired. Access is managed by library staff in Special Collections, Q-1, Boole Library. The reader must complete a copyright declaration form.

Or

3. Restricted Access: The final thesis may not be viewed or downloaded by anyone at any time. This option can only be selected in exceptional circumstances and a justification must be provided for requesting the restriction.

*Embargo

During a designated period, the final thesis may not be viewed or downloaded on CORA. An embargo can be implemented for periods of 1, 3, 5 or 10 years on a thesis under Open or Controlled access

Redaction

Certain sections of the final thesis can be censored or removed from the thesis prior to being made available under Open or Controlled access. This accommodates cases where the author wishes to disseminate their thesis but is unable to publish certain sections of the thesis
